SOCIETY EDITOR

Even blasé society folk pause to listen when the subject is one near to the heart. Hear then what the Sport Editor has to say of "Auction":

"AUCTION"

(By LYLE ABBOTT)

Like a Cincinnati base hit in last year's big, medium-sized and little league ball, "nullo" is one of those new ways to inject fervid interest into auction. It—or they—got invented lately. I use the almost unpronounceable "got" because it is good in case this thing about which I am trying to write is singular or are plural.

At any rate, nullo is something new, and I believe the young women called together to play bridge for me were looking it for the first time. Not being anything expert, I could not criticize the way they fielded their positions. From unguarded conversation I gather that they did make an error or two.

I will explain nullo. I know of no other way in which I can show my knowledge of the classics and of baseball.

Nullo came from nullo, which is Latin for nothing. That is one reason the national commission of auction put that term in the rule book as signifying a bid for nothing. To one who believes in betting on the home team, the nullo system of auctioneering seems sort of unfaithful. You bid a nullo or two, and you are simply betting you won't take a single trick.

There is only one thing about it I can't understand. If you bid two nullo's, are you getting minuscule than if you had simply made it one? Mathematics—so useful in many fields of sports—does not sufficiently explain this play.

You know, I had an idea that Miss Ainsworth could win almost anything she tried, and I wasn't mistaken. I had a chance to say nice things about her game of tennis. But before I had an opportunity even to see her swing the bat, I had to have my illusion shattered by a mere auction game, where she impooverished somebody only to the extent of a few short scores. Miss Rose Bell Goldman, I hear, was the most flagrant loser of the quartet. I didn't hear her coaching herself from the sidelines. She seemed rather deep and quiet. Perhaps that's the why she lost.

But Mrs. George Fowler Gardiner was the Hughie Jennings of the game. She has the gross-pulling Tiger reduced to the recruit class when it comes to reading. Really, I don't see how everybody wins in this game, but as they have a couple of scores they can divide, perhaps. Points and honors, they call 'em.

Having thus concealed my ignorance of auction, I will voice a little philosophy:

Four fair bridge players are not to be impressed even by the cleverest things a mere man can say. Mostly, you can't even say them. While the hand is being played out, you instinctively remain quiet like a Mexican peon watching five Tejanos raising the pot on two pat hands and some one card draws. You do not exactly fear a crashing forty-five, but you imagine stabs from frowning absorbed feminine eyes.

Then when the last trick has been taken, you brighten. Here's where you will get off that little and you cheer. But not with the click of the last card, there starts a parliament.

"That was well played, Ruth. You are a dandy player."

"Well, if I had just led that heart—"

"But I wanted—"

"No, my dear, it wouldn't have been better—"

"Why this grand? I like nullo's."

"Well, not the nullo's."

I get a tiny bit of action as Mrs. Gardiner says to me:

"We are the first ones to play the game this way."

Miss Nellie Tenadele of Virginia avenue entertained informally Monday afternoon, her guests including Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Jr., Miss Ruth Griffin, Miss Jessie Higley, Miss Bessie Knigh and Miss Helen Clark.

Mrs. Ezra Shelley of Tucson is a recent arrival who will pass several weeks in town, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. O. T. Ritchey of 1641 West Madison street. In honor of her mother, Mrs. Ritchey gave an informal tea Wednesday, her guests being Mrs. T. E. Irvine, Mrs. Margaret Jones, Mrs. Alice Stewart, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. A. L. Duran, Mrs. G. F. Sharp, Mrs. M. A. Irvine and Mrs. George B. Wilcox.

Mrs. Pen S. Hildreth of the McDowell road will leave the latter part of June for Ocean Park, where she has leased a cottage for the season.

Miss Georgia Mintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mintz of 211 North Fourth avenue, is winning fame on the coast as a clever amateur actress and graceful dancer. She is to play the lead in "The Price of Coal," by Harold Brighouse, which is to be given by the Cummoek street, will leave Tuesday for Up-land, where her marriage to Saul Hess will take place in November. Miss Duley has made many friends in Phoenix, who will regret to learn of her approaching departure for California. She is a charming young woman, clever and attractive. During her stay here she devoted much of her time to study, and that it was well spent was demonstrated Thursday evening at her recital at the Arizona School of Music. She was assisted by Miss Alpha Eden, and their well arranged program follows:

Piano—Sonata Op. 2—No. 1....(Beethoven)
Allegro-Minuetto Trio—Prestissimo
Reading—"The Mansion"....(Henry Van Dyke)
Piano—Carnival Mignon, Op. 48....(Schiff)
Serenade d'Alceste
Piano—Pavane—Nocturne
Caprice—Scherzetto
Reading—"Another Point of View"....(May Isabelle Fish)
Piano—Rondo Brillante E flat major....(Weber)
Source de Vienne No. 8....(Schubert-Liszt)

The Zesdy Minder club gave its last dance of the season Thursday evening at the Woman's club. Although it was the formal farewell function of this delightful organization, the juniors included in its membership are planning a series of picnic suppers, the initial affair taking place Wednesday at Riverside park. At the dance the other evening were Mr. and Mrs. David Goldberg, Miss Ruth Goldberg, Miss Fern Johnson, Miss Helen O'Malley, Miss Alice Ganz, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Ruby Pascoe, Miss Eugenia Pierce, Miss Cynthia Morley, Miss Gladys Kelly, Miss Elizabeth Bailey, Miss Elma Tolleson, Miss Gladney, Miss Helen Gulliger, Miss Ethel McDermott, Miss Mary Wheat, Miss Helen Plath, Miss Naomi Reed, Miss Ruth Benedict, Miss Alva Lewis, Miss Bernice Jones, Miss Lucile Grable, Miss Evelyn Irvine, Miss Adeline Plath, Miss Ruth Palmer, Corin Davidson, Harold Goldberg, Lester De Mund, Walter Martin, Chester Goldberg, George Luhrs, Harry Osborne, Charles Tweed, Gail Lewis, Karl Ruppert, Tom Marber, Kenneth Comstock, Tucker Pinney, Harry Sloan, Byron Thomas, Harry Lane, Marford Smith, Ulrich Thulheimer, Lloyd Jones, Forrest Betts, Keith Evans, George Hamilton, Garnett McCaleb and John Newcomer.

Miss Laura Williams, whose engagement to George Byers was announced recently, was the guest of honor at a pretty affair of the past week, given by Miss Alice Arendell. The color scheme—red, white and blue—was carried out in flags and accentuated in the floral features. Miss Alice Bernice McCoy, the five-year-old niece of the hostess, impersonated Cupid and presented a surprise shower to Miss Williams. These present were Miss Williams, Miss Clara Watts Wing, Mrs. Norma Cox, Miss Emma Abbey, Miss Vera Bonney, Miss Caldwell, Miss Genevieve Cole, Miss Leona Foose, Miss Maud Hatt, Miss Helen Howard, Miss Helen Joy, Miss Velma Landis, Miss Mattie Lantis, Miss Blanche Lunbeck, Miss Effie Pierce, Miss Nova Pierce, Miss Mildred Schumann, Miss Hazel Wright, Miss Olive Wilcox, Miss Ruth Williams, Herbert Fletcher, Howard Winslow Clinton Jackson, Louisa Munson, Raymond Kilbourn, William Johns, Leslie Fletcher, Morley Howard, T. H. Charette, Fred Joy, George Herrell, Ben Younger and Edward Hollstein.

Mrs. L. A. Migel left Friday for San Francisco, after a week's delightful stay in Phoenix, the guest of Mrs. Joseph Meisner of North Central avenue. Mrs. Migel wintered in New York with her daughter, Mrs. George Katz.

Miss Mabel Hooker will entertain the Auction club, to which she belongs, Monday morning at her North second avenue residence.

Word from California tells of a number of delightful social occasions being given by Mrs. George Purdy Holard, who has been absent on the coast a fortnight. She is at present in Los Angeles, and when Attorney General Ballard joins her there later in the summer, they will motor through the state.

One of the most enjoyable events of the week was the informal dance at the Country club Tuesday evening. In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. James E. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Van Leusen, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Malley, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Earl Nash, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Lenta, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gibbons Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Peters and Mr. and Mrs. John Spangler of Mesa.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Bertram gave a charmingly appointed dinner one evening last week at their home on West Portland street. The table's centerpiece was of prettily arranged snap dragons and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Perry De Mund, Miss Faye De Mund, Miss Avis Steward, Lester De Mund and Russell Penbody.

In compliment to Miss Marjorie Leavell, a much-feted bride-elect, Mrs. O. H. E. Young entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home, 522 North Third avenue. In the shade of the large trees that are attractive features of her garden, Mrs. Young improvised a delightful summer house, Navajo rugs and lounging chairs adding both charm and comfort. The favor given the guest of honor, a life-long friend of the hostess, was a quaint old gold humbird that has been in the Young family nearly half a century. Tea was served in the dining room. The table's centerpiece was a solid mass of pink roses from which radiated pepper leaves. Intermingled in the greenery were pale pink oleanders. Mrs. William Crook assisted Mrs. Leavell, Mrs. Harry Welch, Mrs. Edward Oldaker, Miss Mary Leavell, Miss Ida McDaniell, Miss Ethel Shoemaker, Miss Mary Leavell and Miss Lottie Wyatt.

Judge and Mrs. Joseph H. Kibbey entertained Thursday evening in honor of Miss Marjorie Leavell, who will marry Roland Parsons early in the autumn. As usual the Kibbeys proved delightful hosts and the affair which they gave was quite out of the ordinary. The guests assembled on the lawn, which commands a splendid view of the veranda, where a series of clever charades were given.

There were charming guest gifts for Miss Leavell and Mr. Parsons. Those present were Miss Leavell, Colonel and Mrs. James H. McClintock, Mr. and Mrs. Sims Ely, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sherburne Jenckes, Mrs. Caroline Kibbey, Mrs. Clark Churchill, Miss Elizabeth Crumie, Miss Mary Leavell, Miss Ada Bovell, Miss Mildred Norris, Miss Nell Tufts, Miss Mabel Crumie, Miss Graham, Miss Mabel Hitchens, Dean Scarlett, Howard S. Reed, Roland Parsons, James Howes, John Rinker Kibbey, Edward Marshall, Ernest Bennett, Donald Green, E. H. Hubbard and Fred Long.

Picnic suppers and swimming parties continue to hold first place in the pleasures of the smart set. Among those who comprised a party up the Verde last evening were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Seabury, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hilderbrand, Miss Ruth Ainsworth, Miss Selma Goldberg, Miss Eleanor Sloan, Miss Ellen Conway, Miss Rose Bell Goldman, Miss Harriet Hurley, Dean Scarlett, Power Conway, Judge Edward Kent, Irving de R. Miller, Tim Horan, Stephen Goodman, Eugene Goldman, James Dawson and Leon Tolleson.

Mrs. George Gage gave a bag shower Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Marjorie Leavell. It was one of the most pleasurable of the many affairs given for the popular guest of honor. Twelve were present.

A jolly picnic supper and swimming party was an affair of Wednesday evening, the guests later attending the Shrine Sirkus. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Warren McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Ross, Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers, Miss Ruth Ainsworth, Miss Selma Goldberg, Tim Horan, B. E. Van Sweringen, Burton Green, Stephen Goodman, Stanwood Murphy, Robert Beardsley and Louis H. Chalmers, Jr.

A particularly smart week-end event was the house party given by Mr. and Mrs. Peritt Galt Myers, Jr., at their attractive country place, "Sunset Ranch." Those who enjoyed their delightful hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rowlands, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Page, Mrs. Clayton Ingraham, Joe Cassou, Frank Lang and Dan Patch.

Mrs. James S. Griffin presided over a breakfast of charming appointments Thursday morning at her North Second street residence. Small tables were placed on the veranda and were hidden from view by a natural screen of honeysuckle. A crystal vase of pink roses formed each centerpiece. Auction was a feature of the occasion and the highest score was made by Mrs. W. S. Norviel. There were present Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mrs. Anell Martin, Mrs. W. S. Norviel, Mrs. Edward O'Malley, Mrs. Arthur Gibbons Hallett, Mrs. L. J. Jackson, Mrs. George M. Brockway, Mrs. L. D. Dameron, Mrs. C. H. Davidson, Mrs. W. S. Goldsworthy, Mrs. A. L. McLellan and Mrs. H. M. Kennedy.

The first June bride of the year will be Miss Emma Thulheimer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thulheimer, whose marriage to Jack Gannon will take place at six o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Mary's

Sabbath club at dinner Wednesday evening. Old-fashioned flowers continued in making an unusually effective table centerpiece. Locksport, verbena, mignonette and snap dragon lent their quota of floral beauty. Thulheimer, whose marriage to Jack Gannon will take place at six o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Mary's

Mrs. H. T. Newhouse of 810 North Sixth avenue was a dinner hostess Sunday, complimentary to Miss Gladys Gill, who will leave June 7 for Illinois. Cich Bruner roses were used in decoration with pretty effect. The guest list included Miss Gill, Miss Lola Stroud, Dr. Reinald Stroud, Edward Bertram, Arthur C. Taylor and Raymond Allee.

Miss Fern Johnson, the attractive young daughter of State Treasurer and Mrs. David J. Johnson of North Seventh avenue, gave a delightful dance last evening, entertaining thirty members of the junior set. The home throughout was decorated in greenery and roses, which were used to embellish the veranda. Those present were Miss Aileen Ganz, Miss Ruby Pascoe, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Jean Sears, Miss Helen Plath, Miss Bernice Jones, Miss Ruth Thomas, Miss Aileen Monroe, Miss Beulah Irvine, Miss Adeline Plath, Miss Mary Wheat, Miss Virginia Chesney, Miss Para Lee Irvine, Miss Elizabeth Riley, Miss Gladys Kelly, George Luhrs, Russell Peabody, Earl Lewis, Henry Slocum, Joe Dolan, Earl Johnson, Thomas Wheat, Kenneth Comstock, Tucker Pinney, Lester De Mund, Harry Lane, Garnett McCaleb, John Akers, Forrest Betts and John Newcomer.

Webb Griffen, Harold Bennett, Walter Cherry, George H. Lutzerding, Roy Parsons, H. L. Aller and William Fickas motored to Roosevelt Friday. They will hunt in the White mountains until Tuesday, when they will return to town.

Mrs. E. A. Marshall of Westmoreland place gave a tennis party Tuesday evening and following the tournament supper was served on the court. "The Happy Seven," who are close friends of Miss Marjorie Leavell, the honored guest, were included among those who were there—Miss Marjorie Leavell, Miss Mabel Crumie, Miss Ada Bovell, Miss Mildred Norris, Miss Mary Leavell, Miss Elizabeth Crumie, Miss Nell Tufts, Miss Graham, Edward Marshall, James Dawson, James Howes, Roland Parsons, James Wilson, B. H. Hanna and E. H. Hubbard.

Mrs. W. R. Battin of 329 Latham street made Miss Marjorie Leavell the inspiration for an informal tea Thursday. The drawing room was prettily decorated with roses and a delightful afternoon was passed. The guests numbered eighteen.

Miss Elizabeth Jones, who will attend Huntington Hall next season, will be the incentive for a dance Friday evening. Miss Ruby Pascoe of 624 North Second avenue being the hostess.
